

WHAT IS PERSONAL DATA GENERALLY ACCORDING TO GDPR

Personal data is information that refers to people whose identities are identifiable (such as name, contact details, billing information, and IP address) which, when assigned to a natural person, provides insights into their physical, physiological, economic, cultural, cultural or social identity (Article 4.1 GDPR).

YOUR LEGAL RIGHT REGARDING YOUR DATA

Under the legal prerequisites, the existence of which must be examined on a case by case basis, you have the right to obtain information about your personal data, the right to request the correction or deletion of your personal data, or the restriction of processing, as well as any kind of processing of your personal data and to receive your personal data in a structured, common and machine-readable format.

In accordance with the legal provisions on data protection, you have the right at any time:

- to request information about the data processed by us as well as a copy of this data (right of access).
- to request the deletion of your data (right to cancellation)
- if the legal requirements exist, to receive the data provided by you in a structured, common and machine-readable format and to transmit this data to another person responsible or, insofar as this is technically feasible, to have it transmitted by Vienna Wine Fest (right to data portability)

You also have the right to object to the processing of your data for reasons that arise from your particular situation in the cases provided for by law. If your personal data is processed in order to operate direct mail, you can in any case object to the processing for the purpose of such advertising (right of objection).

You can revoke your newsletter consent by blocking the sending of further advertising by clicking on the "unsubscribe" link at the bottom of the advertising email.

To exercise your other rights as stated in this section, you may contact Vienna Wine Fest using the contact details in the website. In addition, without prejudice to other remedies, you have the right to file a complaint with a regulatory authority at any time.
